No Clue to the Tramp Who Shot

There are no new developments in the mystery which surrounds the shooting of Mr. John F. Dunstan at Lorraine on Monday morning. The city police are at a loss to know

ALLENTOWN, PA., June 21 .- (Special.) The plucky Richmond club evened up things with Allentown this evening by winning a game marked by heavy hitting and brilliant fielding. The contest was one of the prettlest played here this season, and was close and exciting up to the seventh inning, when the visitors, by effective stick-work, forced in three runs and clinched their victory. The one weak spot in the game was the pitching of Keener, and the Richmond men made the best of this. Chesbro was batted more freely than Keener, but the hits were scattered. The hard drives of Chesbro and Hargrove for Richmond and the field work of Joe Delehanty, Smith, and Cleve for Allentown were the features of the ame. Each team having taken one here. o-morrow's contest is looked forward to with special interest. Score:

Messrs. Burket and Fahr Against Him-The Vote Close-Pretty Wedding Last Night-Mr. Pleasants is Robbed-Police News and Briefs.

An adjourned meeting of the Water Commissioners of Manchester was held last night for the election of the Superintendent and Clerk of the Water-Works, the chief engineer at the pump-house, and his assistant.

The meeting was of a great deal of interest because of the strong fight made against the present Superintendent, Mr. Harvey Bourne. Mr. Bourne was reelected, however, as were the other officers, who had no opposition.

Those present were Messrs. John O'Brien (chairman), A. D. Shotwell, C. S. Wells, George A. Carr, and J. R. Green, the entire membership. The body went immediately into the election for which they assembled. Mr. Bourne was opposed by Messrs. Charles E. Burkert and A. W. Fahr. Both Mr. Burkert and Mr. Fahr received strong support, and not until a number of ballots were taken was the election of Mr. Bourne made certain The other re-elections were: For Clerk, Mr. Cary Jenks; for Chief Engineer, Mr. George Hall; for Assistant, Mr. John Childress.

His State used to be the home of his bride, too. used to be the home of his bride, too. Here they met and fell in love, but the hand of fate led the young lady to the East. Distance and silence could not destroy the flame Cupid had kindled. The groom the little god would give no rest or peace till he came on to claim as his bonny bride his first love.

BLANCO REPORTED SHOT.

Said to Have Been Wounded by Spanish Volunteer. (Washington Post-21st.)

News has been received in Washington of the attempted assassination, in Habana, of Captain-General Blanco, by Mariano Salva, a young member of the volunteer army, and of a condition of affairs in the Cuban capital almost bordering on revolution, as a consequence dering on revolution,
The volunteers parade the streets

The attempted killing of the Spanish general took place as he was leaving the Palace, about to accompany some of the officers of his staff to inspect the earthworks on the outskirts of the city. Salva, the young Cuban who sent a rifle bullet into General Blanco's left leg, saiva, the young cuban was sent a fire bullet into General Blanco's left leg, above the thigh, is a member of the volunteer guard on duty around the Palace. His younger brother was also a volunteer, and was recently arrested on a charge of conspiring with the enemies of Scale against the established sovernof Spain against the established governof Spain against the estatement into ment. Young Salva was thrown into ment. Young salva was tried before prison, and recently was tried before a court-martial, condemned to death, and Salva harbored the idea of revenge, and sought every opportunity to consummate it. His own post was usually in a part of the Palace little frequented by General Blanco, and his opportunities for meeting the Captain-General were few. On the day of the shooting, however, he succeeded in obtaining permission from his commanding officer to exchange with a brother soldier, and he secured the coveted post in front of the Palace. Salva waited until the time General Bianco usually came out in the after-noon, and then took up his position on the outer steps of the Palace, a short distance from a platoon of volunteers also on guard, and waited. He had not been there long when the doors were thrown open and General Blanco, sur-thrown open and General Bianco, surrounded by several gentlemen, with whom he was talking, emerged.

As he stepped out the young soldier moved forward a pace and raised his rifle as if to salute. Instead of doing so, however, he quickly brought the breach of the weapon to his shoulder, and before those near him could spring forward, had sent a bullet into the group. His aim, badly taken because of the officers who were near its object, was effective none were near its object, was effective none the less, and General Blanco, with an exclamation of pain, sank down. The utmost confusion reigned for a few mo-, ments, until the nature of the wound was discovered, and the Governor of the is-land was taken indoors again. Salva was arrested and confined in Morro Castle.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.-Despite announcements to the contrary. General Merritt has not yet decided whether he will go with the next fleet of transports or not. It is now intimated that he will be taken to the Philippines on the cruiser Philadelphia, should that vessel be ready for sea within a reasonable time. One thing is certain, the General is preparing to depart, and if he should conclude to start with the next fleet, he will be ready. Preparations for the third expedition are going forward rapidly, and it is probable the ships will be in sailing order by Saturday.

GROVER CLEVELAND ON THE BALEFULNESS OF WAR. FOR IN WAIT

Evil for Our Country Involved in the Policy of Expansion-Unwisdom of the Acquisition of Distant Territory.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 21 .- Grover Cleveland delivered the annual Founders'-Day address at the exercises of the Lawrenceville School, held to-day. His subject was "Good Citizenship." Mr. Cleveland said in part: "The American people are tempted every day and every hour to abandon their accustomed way and enter upon a course of new and strange adventure. Never before in our history have we been beset with temptations so dangerous as those which now whisper in our ears alluring words of conquest and expansion, and point out to us fields bright with the glory of war. I once saw a very useful book entitled 'Don't.' It contained a statement of numerous things which should not be done. I am inclined to adopt the plan of this book to the extent of cautioning you against imperfect ideas of civic duties and warning you against certain dangers which threaten the sound-Under orders from General Merritt, a ship, and which, especially at this particuboard of army doctors to-day examined lar time, seem to lie in wait for us on ship, and which, especially at this particuevery side.

"It is absolutely certain that we are in need of reinforcements in the ranks of we need have no fear that American good citizenship. It is no less certain that our schools and codleges can in large tory, but I pray you not to forget that, measure supply the necessary help. Since when the clash of arms is stilled and the patriotism underlies good citizenship, you courage of the soldier has done its work. should avoid a misconception of the meaning of this word. I believe there is sometimes a tendency to think patriotism is something believe and defiant. Of which, unmoved by clamor and unalls.

"As an illustration of our past methods, it may occur to you that though this na-tion is young, we have within its short existence, by close adherence to our origin nal designs and purposes, astonished the world by our progress and the develop-ment of our vast possessions. With our first century's tremendous growth and advancement before our eyes as proof of the strength and efficiency of consistent Americanism, you will find in the begin-ning of our second century proof of the abundance of our present domain in millions of acres of government territory still unoccupied, while hundreds of government officials wait to bestow it upon settlers. You will also see other large acres of American soil yet untrodden by the feet of man, while our gates are still standing open to receive those who shall come from other countries to share our homes and privileges.

PROPOSED NEW POLICY. "In view of these things, and considering our achievements in the past and our promise for the future, recalling what we have done and what we have been and what yet remains for us to do, under the guidance of the rules and motives which have thus far governed our na tional life, you surely are entitled to demand the best reasons for a change in our policy and conduct, and to expect a conclusive explanation of the conditions which make our acquisition of new and distant territory either justifiab., prudent, or necessary. Perhaps you would be satisfied with the excuse that such acquisition is necessary, by way of war-like preparation or precaution. This, however, will immediately suggest to you that we have found herato-fore a constant source of congratulation in the fact that the contemplation o. war and its contingencies is not, and should not be, familiar to our ordinary national life, and that it has also been our boast that a large standing military and naval establishment, and warlike precautions, are not among the of the people whose victories are the of peace, and whose immunity from armed conflict is found in their freedo from the foreign relationships that give birth to war; and though it has been abundantly demonstrated that the courage and splendid fighting qualities of our countrymen will never fall in time of need, it is still a grave question whether the cheapening of our estimate of the value of peace, by dwelling upon war and warlike preparations is calculated to improve the quality of our national character.

"These considerations naturally lead me to counsel you against the danger of allowing the bright dress and gay trapallowing the bright dress and gay trappings which war puts on, to divert your attention from the ugly features that belong to it, as seen in the light of true American citizenship. The danger of such a diversion may arise from restless enthusiasm, which is by no means unattractive, or from our admiration for deeds of valor, which is a national characteristic or from the fascination of teristic, or from the fascination of dangerous adventure ever found with bravery, or from the glow of successful WAR A HATEFUL THING. "It is difficult to deal with the question of war at this time, and avoid miscon ception and misrepresentation. But we are considering American citizenship and endeavoring to find its best characteristics, and how they can be most effectively cultivated and securely preserved. From this standpoint war is a hateful thing, which we should shun and avoid, as antagonistic to the objects of our national existence, as threatening demoralisation to our national character, and as obstructive to our national des tiny. If you believe this, you should stands bravely for your belief, even though a shower of stupid calls may fill the air. If, on account of this belief, you are called 'milksops' and 'cowards,'

I should be guilty of an attempt to mislead if I falled to promptly remind you that there are conditions which not only justify war, but make a resort to it a duty. No nation, however peacefully inclined, and whatever the consequences may be, can determine that it will in no circumstances engage in war. Bad as it is, and deplorable as its incidents are, no government can refuse it at the risk of imperilling its existence or sacrificing the rights and interests tholds in trust for its people and for himanity and for civilization. Of course cannot be entirely exempt from the conditions which may force a nation into war, any more than an individual can be exempt from the incidents that may force the most peaceful man to a personal en-"In view of such an unescapable liability to be brought face to face with the question of war, and in view of war's real nature and its demoralizing effect upon our national life and character, we cannot fall to be most seriously impressed by the reflection that we have express ly authorized those to whom we have en trusted our public affairs to determine for us the momentous mission of peace or war, and that if the determination be for war, our ready and unquestioned acquiescence becomes patriotism, and the support of our country's intention becomes good citizenship. PROTECTION AT THE POLLS

"How, then, shall the people protect themselves against the folly of a departure from their national purposes, against the crime of unnecessary and un-justifiable war? Manifestly, by an intelligent study on their part of the charac-ter of the government, and the exaction of a clear perception of those who repre-sent them in public life, of their nation's mission, and the baleful effect of wir ness and safety of true American citizen- upon the nation's health. Nothing, however, will be found sufficient as a protetion of the people against betraya' if conscience and moral courage are tack-
